

Lake Harriet Nov. 21st 1837

Dear Sister Emily

Perhaps you will be surprised to receive a letter from me dated from this place but not more than I am for when I think where I am I am almost inclined to think that I am dreaming I cannot realize that I am so far from home I little thought when I parted with you that before I should see you again I should be on the western side of the Mississippi engaged in teaching the children of the forest

What is Emily saying is she charging her sister with a want of affection for her because she could pass so near her and not visit her I think you would not if you knew my feelings no dear sister it was a great trial to think of going so far from you without having an opportunity to give you the parting hand and exchange the parting kifs yet so it is and it becomes me to submit without repining when I think of your past kindness to me the many hours you have watched over me in sickness it deeply affects my heart and causes the tears to flow from my eyes

Perhaps it will not be uninteresting to you to have a short account of our journey we left Stafford the 13th of October in the afternoon spent the first night at aunt Kelloggs went to Buffalo the next day it was saturday spent the sabbath there went on board the steam boat General Porter monday morning had a very pleasant time on the Lake arrived at Detroit wednesday morning Mr S. had some business to transact there which detained half a day in the afternoon we started for Monroe where had some business

Cordelia unites with me and Mr S in love to your husband and Dear Mr & Mrs Beardsley are intend to write to her soon

ever so much as you but whether I ever shall so very do not feel but the hope of meeting you in heaven is truly consoling My sister do you enjoy yourself with godd heart all you can upon him point he thanks for you to do which was the reason of his going there arrived at Monroe this day about 10 o'clock were detained there until Monday of the next week A young man from Oberlin that Mr D... had engaged to go on with him as an assistant arrived at Monroe the next day after we did he was married after Mr Stevens saw him at C... and had his wife along with him they took the horse and carriage and left M... on Saturday Mr D and I left there on Monday in the stage which was an open wagon it would have been impossible to have gone in a coach on account of the bad roads next to the cumpet that day 30 miles 13 miles of it was the worst going I think that I ever saw and it rained hard constantly while we were going over it from 10 o'clock until nearly dark the next day arrived at Jonesville 10 o'clock in the evening accordingly went to brother Herdys found them all well except P... she looked more feeble than I ever saw her before she said her health was improving James and his family well I think they are pleasantly situated we returned to Jonesville at night left in the stage two o'clock in the morning and all day and all night overtook Mr Brown in the morning he had been sick all the week with the ague and was nearly worn out he did not like to be left thought he could ride in the stage as he should have no care on his mind Mr Stevens took the carriage and Mr Brown and his wife went on in the stage intending to stop and wait for us where they got to Chicago the name of the place where we overtook Mr B... is rode about 30 miles put up at a private house with a pious family they were very kind to us the first night of good rest that I had after we left Monroe Saturday got 13 miles this side of Michigan City to a small village where we spent the sabbath there were a few pious families Mr D... preached 3 sermons this village consisted of a few houses in the woods so much sand that we were almost in danger of being buried in it every time we stepped out Monday got within 9 miles of Chicago we were anxious to get there but night overtook us and we had to give it up we rode in the evening 3 or 4

When I left Sylvan Creek I intended to write to Mrs Beardsley but it has been impossible for me to do it with all my care hours a very dreary lonesome place very dark cold and windy we crossed the Calumet river on a bridge that sunk under the water and shook so that it made it seem very frightful about a mile from the river we came to a place where the road went into the Lake I told Mr. D. I thought we had got out of the road I could not go in there I had rather go back to the Tavern he got out and looked and said there was no other place to go he would do just as I said about going back I asked him if he was not afraid he said no and I told him to go in there was an island of sand out a few rods from shore that we went on to and found it to be a ~~very~~ ~~pleasant~~ ~~place~~ ~~to~~ ~~stop~~ ~~at~~ ~~the~~ ~~end~~ of it we were at a ~~very~~ ~~loose~~ ~~place~~ ~~again~~ where to go we could not follow the road in the water the waves were dashing up on one side of us the other was a high bank Mr. D. climbed up the bank and after and after looking about a half of an hour he found a place to get up the bank I was rather lonely and felt some afraid sitting in that strange and frightful looking place alone we stopped at a Tavern about 2 miles from there and spent the night arrived at C. the next morning about nine o'clock found Mr. and Mrs. B. there spent the day in C. wednesday rode 18 miles forded a river currents very rapid the ice almost covered in water thursday rode 48 miles forded another deep river where the water came in to the waggon over the top of the box put up at the house where the stage stopped for the night slept with a lady and 2 children in the bar room where there were nearly 20 men one of the children cried or coughed a great part of the night the men were not still many minutes in the course of the night so you may judge how much I rested that night Mr. Brown and his wife arrived there about 12 o'clock on the night the next morning Mr. D. Brown and myself left there in the stage Mr. B. in ^{the} waggon - the coach ran very rough upsetting a good many times the gentlemen would get out and hold it up we had to get out and walk several times in the water rode until in the evening then stopped and took supper started on again after supper in an open waggon in the rain very dark got lost on the prairie and were out 7 hours going 12 miles I think the drivers were more than an hour looking for the road at one time there were 2 stages along both full of passengers some them pretty merry and you may imagine what a time we had some of them singing some scolding horns blowing so that those who were looking for the road could not get lost we finally got through came to Buffalo Grove the place
